

James Martin for Senator.

Whether the next United States Senator from New Jersey will be a Republican or a Democrat is a question that cannot be easily answered at the present time. Should the Democrats stand together, which is highly probable, and the Republicans divide their strength between two men, perhaps three, also a matter of eminent probability, the Senator to succeed Mr. Dryden would be sure to be a Democrat, even though a majority on joint ballot is possessed by the Republicans. It is a sure thing that Mr. Dryden has the pledges of a majority of Republicans, but it is feared by the leaders that he cannot command the votes in their unitary, and that it would be only by pulling upon a new candidate that Republican success can be hoped for. This is clearly manifest, and it now becomes a matter of delicate diplomacy to decide upon the proper move to lead the party to victory.

The latest name considered is that of James Martin, editor of the Newark Advertiser, a man who measures up to the President's usual standard of qualifications. Mr. Martin enjoys the personal friendship of President Roosevelt, and has long been in close touch with him, particularly while he was managing editor of the New York Tribune.

Mr. Martin has lived in New Jersey for many years, almost all of his life, and is a Republican to the core. He has an extensive acquaintance among the public men of the State, is a student of political economy and one of the best posted men in public affairs generally. He is one of the Roosevelt type of man, unallied to machines, and public spirited. Among many wise Republicans it is believed he is the coming man.

Governor Stokes has been regarded as a Senatorial candidate ever since the Dryden candidacy became a matter of doubt, but now it seems as though the only hope of the Republicans is in James Martin.—Orange Chronicle.

Proctor's Newark Theatre.

The programme presented by Mr. Proctor for the patrons of his Newark Theatre is one of the best bills seen there this season; it abounds with the names of vaudeville celebrities, the feature being the appearance there of four young men who came unheralded, out of the West about the time of the San Francisco disaster, determined to make a name for themselves in Eastern vaudeville. That their praises were more than fulfilled was proven by the fact that they remained in New York all summer, being the hit of the New York Roof Garden. The success of Messrs. Sylvester, Jones, Pringle and Morello was so instantaneous that they were called by all the critics "That Quartette," greatest of American singing fours. Another stellar feature will be the first appearance at Proctor's next Monday night of Spessard's bears, one of the greatest exhibitions of animals in the world to day.

Important Christmas Gifts.

When L. S. Plaut & Co., Newark, say that their Christmas show of dolls is ready, it is news that spreads fast among all who are thinking of giving these ever popular toys. The particular charm of the Bee Hive dolls lies in their selection, and the concession of dolls of all descriptions or more artistic dolls throughout its assortments. And prices here are wonderfully low for so much beauty and worth. All sort of doll attire and other belongings are to be had at this store, too. In the way of Christmas cards and calendars, L. S. Plaut & Co. have variety that will call warm praise from the most critical. The latest work of such artists as Christy, Gibson, Underwood, Hutt and others as noted; works from such celebrated establishments as Dutton and Raphael Tuck are here in immense variety.—Advt.

Automobile Show.

The first annual New Jersey Automobile and Sportsmen's Show and Athletic Carnival, to take place in the Colosseum, 457-463 Springfield Avenue, Newark, December 11-15, inclusive, will be an event of much importance, not only to the locality in which it will be held, but to the State in general. New York, Massachusetts and other of the Eastern States have had their big exhibitions for the motorists and the sportsmen, but this respect New Jersey has been behind the rest of the country, but the fact that enthusiasm for automobiling, hunting and fishing she is not surpassed by any other State in the Union.
